SADD

April 4, 2011 SADD had a speaker come to talk to the Middle and High School students about drunk driving and riding home or anywhere with a friend that is under the influence. The speaker had a son named Dominique that was killed in a car accident coming home with his cousin Adrian and their dates from a party, when a college student also coming home from a party that was under the influence going the wrong way on the highway hit Adrian's car head on. Both Dominique and his cousin Adrian died at the scene. Their dates survived with a few broken bones and bad memories from the wreck.

She told us about how she didn't know about the accident until the next morning when she saw the missed calls on her phone and was afraid that something happened to her mom, but when she found out that it was her son she was speechless.

She also said that it was hard for her to write her only son's obituary and plan his funeral.

At the end of the presentation she showed us a slide show of Dominique's life from birth to death; there was also the 911 phone call that Dominique and Adrian's girlfriends called in. She was a very motivational speaker about drinking and driving.

~ Movie Review ~

Life as We Know It is a 2010 comedy-drama distributed by Warner Bros. The movie is rated PG-13 because of brief sexual material, language, and brief drug content. It's a great storyline that will make you laugh and cry.

Starring in this movie are Katherine Heigl, Josh Duhamel, Josh Lucas and Alexis Claggett. If you like funny movies that can also hit home, then this movie is for you. I enjoyed this movie because even though part of the plot was sad, there was still happiness that came from it.
